"We favor Federal aid to State and local authorities in the construction and maintainence of post-roads."

This was a Democratic pre-election promise. It was a plank in the platform adopted by the national Democratic' party at the Denver convention in 1910. It has been assured that the Democrats in the House of Representatives would give to the people after election what they [promised on the stump before election; that Speaker Champ Clark would insist upon having every pre-election promise carried to the letter. It has been repeatedly urged that Democrtaic Congressmen help the good roads movement as one of the most effective methods of giving the farmers of the United States some of the benefits of the vast government expenditures to which they are justly entitled. This assurance has just been made good, not in words, but in deeds. The Democratic House of Representatives, we are pleased to announce to users of the public roads, has passed the Shackleford amendment to the Postoffice appropriation bill providing for an expenditure of from ten to eighteen millions of dollars annually for the construction and improvement of the nation's roads. The principle on which it is proposed to spend this money is based on compensation to be paid by the Federal government for the use of roads traversed by carriers in the rural free delivery service, and is divided into three classes, as follows: Class A .- The highest form of imfive cents for a fly trap, or, better proved road in the country for which still, get a haif-dozen, bait them and it is proposed to pay $25 per mile per Class B-A thoroughfare of high quality, but not equal to Class A, for which it is proposed to pay $20 per mile per year.

Class C -The ordinary dirt road of the country, somewhat improved, for may be put in a bracket, so it can be which it is proposed to pay $15 per mile per year.
